

Keep Expanding Cloud Managed Services

Breathe easy with Liquid Telecoms Managed Cloud Services

What is Cloud Managed services?

We thought of reaching for the Oxford dictionary for this definition, but we paused and believe that we could answer this based on our years of providing cloud managed services to a number of happy customers.

Simply put, cloud managed services are what allows you to focus on what you do best while we focus on using our expertise to ensure your cloud-based services are optimised for your business- all day, every day.

Why pay for a Cloud Managed Service?

Elite athletes don't spend hours researching best practices; there is no room for trial and error. They hire experts to guide them. By doing so, they position themselves to focus all their energy and time on what matters most - bringing in the gold.

Similarly, your business is an elite athlete which must partner with the best to ensure you can focus on what is important to reach your gold.

The benefit of Liquid Telecoms Cloud Managed Services, other than providing you the time to enjoy your precious cup of morning coffee include:

1. Applying cost-effective approaches

A managed service is cheaper than hiring a team internally and allows you to reduce present IT staff management cost.

2. Greater efficiency of your cloud deployment

We pride ourselves in maximizing your utilization of cloud tools. Our experienced and certified team will also ensure a quicker implementation and adoption process.

3. Competitiveness

Outsmart your competition by giving your business the advantage of spending every second on improving your core business offering- leaving the management of your cloud to the experts.

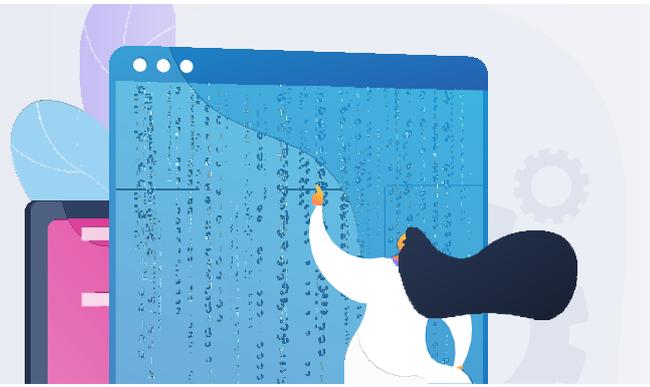

4. Improved security and compliance

Benefit from the latest and greatest security practices to reduce risk to your business and customers.

5. Minimise unforeseen downtime

Ensure business continuity with a fully managed service for your cloud deployments backed by SLA support.
